

A large, white, cylindrical plastic water tank stands in a dry, open field under a blue sky with scattered clouds. The tank has a black cap and a black hose connected to it. To the right of the tank, a black metal barrel lies on the ground, and a black hose runs vertically. The ground is dry and sandy with some sparse green grass. A chain-link fence is visible in the background.

No label including contents

8.3.2012 10:33