

A photograph of a field site. In the foreground, there is a sandy trench with a large black pipe lying horizontally. To the right of the pipe is a large pile of dark, tangled material, possibly debris or vegetation. The ground is covered with green, low-lying vegetation. In the background, a silver SUV is parked on a dirt road. Further back, there are some industrial structures, including a tall chimney and some storage tanks. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds.
