

An oil pumpjack is the central focus, its long walking beam and counterweight visible. The structure is painted a light tan color. To the right of the pumpjack, a green gas cylinder stands on a metal frame. The ground is a mix of dark, cracked earth and patches of melting snow. In the background, a flat, green field stretches to the horizon under a blue sky with light clouds. A safety sign is positioned in front of the pumpjack's base.
