Gentlemen,

Just wanted to give you a courtesy heads-up that this afternoon we had a well integrity breach at the following location. There was no release of liquids – only gas. We have moved a workover rig onto the well to kill it, and that should happen in the next hour or so. The closest residence is approximately a mile away, and the gas is limited to within just a few feet of the well. There are no impacts to the public, Anadarko personnel/contractors or sensitive environments. We just wanted to make you aware of the situation. Feel free to contact me with any questions.
