State Land Board. It is this inspectors opinion based on his experience that the adjacent reference area is in poor condition. Vegetation appears to be predominantly Kochia with a few various forb species. This may create a challenge when identifying reclamation goals in the future as very little desirable perennial vegetative cover exists throughout the majority of the property. The landscape shows evidence of heavy grazing pressure, this is likely due to a combination of livestock and dense prairie dog populations.	trujilloam	04/19/2017
