Aerial imagery taken in 2017. Aerial imagery shows an area around the well location and tank battery (red-dashed line). This area appears to have been disturbed during construction operations in 2011. Surface owner indicated the Operator disturbed portions of this area within the last 1-2 years and failed to perform reclamation activities. Surface owner attempted to get the Operator to perform reclamation but was unsuccessful. Surface owner decided to perform reclamation activities themselves which included this area and the adjacent area. Final land use change has occurred and the area is cropland, not rangeland.
