COMMENTS:

Please be advised that the Lost Creek #45 well has not produced since 09/01/2017. A CIBP has been set and TA status is being requested with an effective date of 2/28/20. Non-production is for the following reason, Extended excessive pipeline pressures have directly impacted the wells ability to produce sufficient volumes of natural gas into our gas purchasers pipeline. The low J Sand Reservoir Pressure is unable to compete with the historically high pipeline pressures. The increased pipeline pressures are a result of all the new Niobrara Shale gas that is now being produced into it. The Lost Creek #45 well is capable of producing approximately 15 mcf per day when line pressures are marginally high. When line pressures are low we estimate the well is capable of producing approximately 20 to 25 mcf per day. A decision was made to put the well in TA status while we wait for the pipeline pressures to subside. On 2/28/2020 a CIBP was set 50' above the perforations at a depth of 6697'. A successful MIT test was then conducted on 2/28/20.
